NORTH EAST
HIGH SCHOOL

NORTH EAST
PENNSYLVANIA

To an outsider, North East High School would have no significance except that it is merely a building with many windows. What he doesn't realize is how much this building means to us who are an integral part of it. Behind each window is a segment of our life, our high school years.

Through one window, young eager faces can be seen searching for enlightenment through a lecture. Report cards are issued, and with them comes sorrow for many. Following close behind are seniors preparing to take college boards and rushing to complete college applications. Hustle and bustle can be seen on the night of graduation, the ultimate goal. But, although learning is the main objective of an institution such as this, there are others which will be remembered as long.

One can see girls laughing about last week's dates and anticipating a dance in the near future. The yelling and screaming at a football or basketball game is also an important component of our school. There are nights when sad faces can be seen in the locker room. But there are also joyful grins when we have defeated our rival team.

These are all important aspects of what a stranger can see through our windows. When we reminisce about our high school years, they will all be equally remembered.

And so with these thoughts in mind, the class of nineteen hundred and sixty-six proudly presents the AQUILO.

Dedication

Earle C. Davis

We, the class of 1966, dedicate the AQUILO to Mr. Earle C. Davis, our Supervising Principal. As he completes an outstanding career as an educator and administrator, we are filled with respect, gratitude, and admiration for this solemn and august man who has left an indelible mark upon our hearts and minds. He has untiringly given his guiding wisdom and sympathetic understanding to the generations of students who have attended NEHS. We are proud to say that Mr. Davis has been our friend, and we wish in our humble way to honor him.

Dear Members of the Class of '66:

Your class will be remembered as an active and energetic group by faculty members, as well as administrators. As a group, you have distinguished your school by your attainment, and we have been proud of your scores on many tests as compared with those on the national and county level. We know that in a group of a hundred, exceptional individuals will be found; we feel that in your group we have had more than our share of outstanding persons who have made our job a stimulating and challenging one.

We wish you the very best in the future as we expect three fourths of your class members will go on to advanced study after leaving high school. Work hard, and success will be yours. We will be available to give help to you at any time. I offer my congratulations and best wishes to each of you.

Sincerely,
D. G. Claypool

High School Principal

Dear Seniors:

You will complete your attendance in the public schools as provided by the state and your local district in June 1966. The offering in the public schools is more extensive than at any other time in the history of public education. In Erie County the schools offer a well-balanced and well-taught program of study. The one most evident lack is an offering in the field of vocational-technical education. The Erie Technical High School will make this offering possible by September, 1967.

Your future success depends on your personal effort. Success is not always measured by the ability to get high grades; but excellence in academic abilities is essential to those who choose the professions such as medicine, dentistry, law and engineering. Many individuals of lesser academic ability are particularly successful in the non-professional fields. There are room and opportunity for each of us to be successful in terms of his ability and efforts.

I wish each of you success and happiness in your future life and endeavors.

Sincerely,
E. C. Davis

North East Joint School Board

Through the capable guidance and foresight of our school board, NEHS has kept pace with the rapidly changing world of education. Problems of budgeting and administration are capably and efficiently handled. This energetic and skillful group strives to keep the caliber of our school policy at its usual, high level. Our community is especially fortunate in having so many well-qualified and dedicated persons from all walks of life who are willing to serve their community. The student body is grateful to the board members for their diligence and interest in our community welfare.

Flying Fingers, Helping Hands

Mrs. Margaret Doverspike
Head Nurse

Under the general supervision of a usually smiling Mrs. Dutton, the office monitors run the innumerable errands of the busy school office. Each morning Mrs. Doverspike, school nurse and general sympathizer, confers with Mrs. Dutton on the "problems" of the day. These people are really indispensable to NEHS.

Truant officer: Harold Sack

"Gottcha!"

Truant officer Harold Sack and the patient bus drivers see that NEHS students arrive safely at their destinations. All are dedicated to their important jobs. In spite of mass confusion, blinding snow storms and icy roads, their cheery smiles prevail.

They Add the Spice.

The custodians and cafeteria ladies form a vital part of the school organization. Many long hours are spent in keeping NEHS spic and span and in the thoughtful planning and preparation of delicious food. Their tireless efforts help to make our school attractive and our hours here pleasant ones.

"But, Mr. Mac, I just don't understand."

"Oh, you little sneak!"

"We're all right—really!"

"Believe me—the food is good."

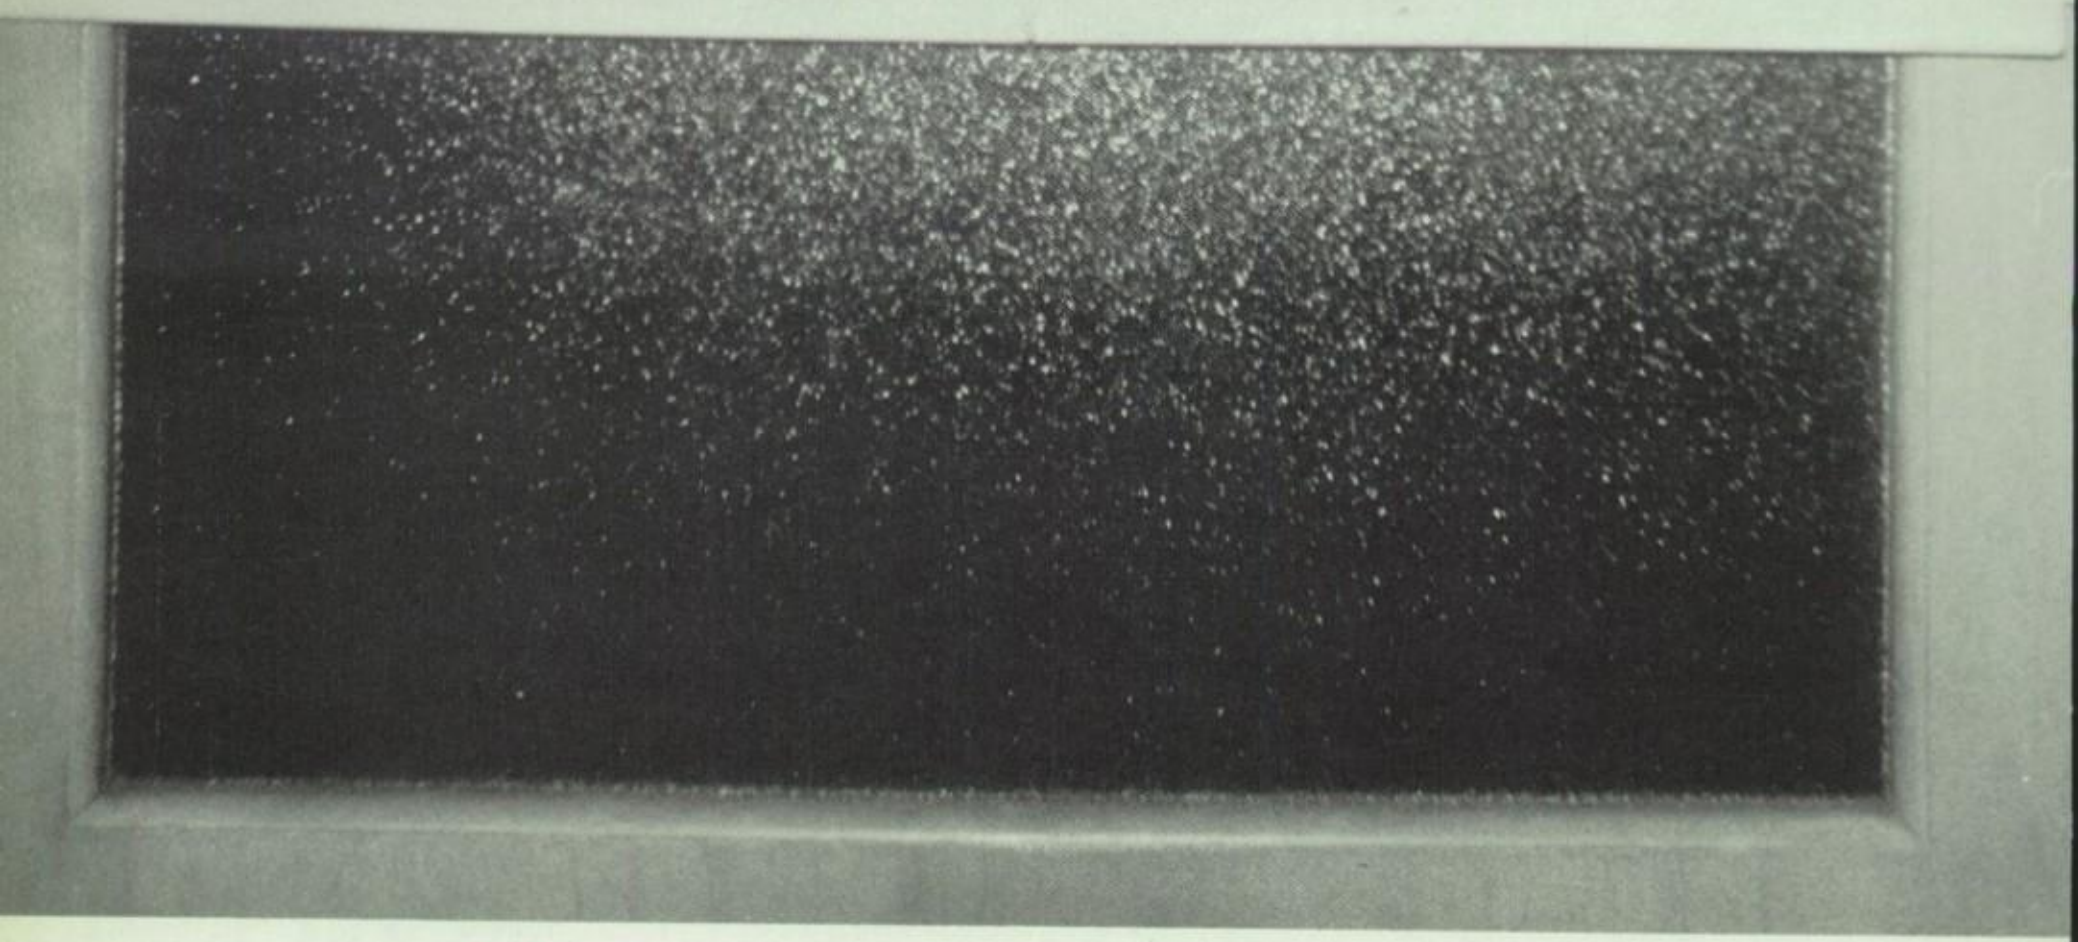
Lindy for the best of luck

Sophie Tuana "71"

The members of the class of nineteen hundred and sixty-six have walked down the halls of N.E.H.S. many times ... they have laughed and cried, screamed and whispered over innumerable things with their classmates ... now a graduation relegates the class of '66 to the ranks of alumni ... their eyes are looking into the windows of the future, while the shades on the windows of our high school years are slowly drawn.



Linda,
So one of the cutest 8th graders I know. Remember all the good times we had on the bus & hope you have loads of fun this summer. I'll never forget you. Be good & have fun.
